2. ACTION SUMMARY

The current conflict in Israel and Palestine is marked by unprecedented violence, loss of life, injury and destruction. As emphasized by EU leaders European Council on 26 October 2023, the EU maintains a unified stance unequivocally condemning in the strongest possible terms Hamas and its brutal and indiscriminate terrorist attacks across Israel, emphasizing the imperative for the immediate and unconditional release of all hostages. The EU was clear that Israel had the right to defend itself in line with humanitarian and international law and reiterated the imperative of ensuring the protection of all civilians at all times, expressing its gravest concern about the humanitarian crisis in Gaza. Moreover, a key priority is to avoid regional spill-over, including in the West Bank and to engage with partners in this respect, including with the Palestinian Authority. The EU is very concerned about the situation in the West Bank (including East Jerusalem), where there have been unparalleled levels of deadly settler violence and continued displacement of several Palestinian communities. The EU advocates for a two-state solution based on relevant UN Security Council Resolutions and international agreements as the only viable path to peace.

Numerous medical facilities have been damaged and affected by severe lack of even basic necessities for their operation. Repairs, resupplies, and humanitarian medical evacuations are imperative needs. Furthermore, the conflict continues to exact a heavy toll on the mental health of people living in Israel and Palestine. The prolonged exposure to violence and limited access to mental health resources for civilians, particularly children, causes high levels of trauma, anxiety, and depression. Disinformation and lack of trust fuel violence and pose a challenge to maintain hope for peace efforts that depend on access to reliable information. Furthermore, given the unprecedented levels of munitions deployed, the need for effective mine action will remain a challenge to human security, reconstruction and economic activity throughout the foreseeable future and will require international support. At the same time, the continued escalation of violence in the West Bank underlines the risk of the conflict spreading and underlines the importance of continued engagement to protect civilian populations' physical and mental safety as well as their legal rights.

This 18-month crisis response measure has the overarching goal of supporting efforts that alleviate the suffering of the most affected communities and assist in promoting lasting peace. Its first component seeks to assess the damage to health infrastructure and to protect civilians by providing life-saving support to essential health services as well as early warning and disease prevention activities. This component will also help address the vast needs in regard to mental health and psychosocial support for affected communities in Israel and Palestine. The second component aims to assist advocacy efforts towards a peaceful resolution of the conflict. It will also focus on countering disinformation, supporting fact checking to facilitate that public debate is based on reliable information and thereby contribute to an informed and constructive dialogue in support of a lasting peace. A third component will focus on humanitarian mine action, particularly on Digital Explosive Ordnance Risk Education (DEORE) messaging campaigns using social media platforms, and when the situation allows for it, establish explosive ordnance survey and clearance capacity, in particular around critical infrastructure, to facilitate safe movement and delivery of humanitarian aid. The fourth component will be on the West Bank, focusing on preventing conflict-related violence, ensuring physical safety and well-being, and providing legal services. The focus will be on equipping communities and individuals with skills and support to prevent violence and protect against human rights violations.

3. BACKGROUND AND RATIONALE

3.1 BACKGROUND

On 7 October 2023, war flared up once again in the Middle East. The appalling terrorist attack by Hamas, which the EU immediately condemned in the strongest possible terms, reignited a cycle of violence that escalated into a humanitarian tragedy in Gaza. The ongoing conflict has severely compromised the overall health system in Gaza. The unprecedented level of violence has resulted in extensive destruction and damage of medical facilities, impeding the ability to provide essential care to those in need. The strain on health services is further exacerbated by the tight blockade of the Gaza Strip causing acute shortage of medical supplies as well as medical personnel. This, coupled with mass displacement, overcrowding of shelters and damage to the water and sanitation infrastructure, raises fears of an imminent public health catastrophe.

The conflict has a profound psychological impact, creating a widespread need for trauma healing on both sides. Communities grapple with the enduring effects of violence, loss, and displacement, requiring comprehensive mental health support to address the emotional scars left by years of conflict. Particularly concerning is the impact on children, who often bear the brunt of the trauma, facing long-term psychological consequences that demand specialized, long-term care.

Given the very high amounts of munitions and explosives deployed in the conflict, the Gaza Strip will be heavily contaminated by unexploded remnants of war and other explosive risks. This poses a severe direct threat to the civilian population and will impede delivery of humanitarian aid as well as reconstruction efforts. Addressing this risk will require long-term international cooperation and substantial resources.

The EU remains a staunch proponent for a two-state solution based on relevant UN Security Council Resolutions and international agreements as the only viable path to peace. Civil society engagement plays a crucial role in advocating for a two-state solution in Israel and in Palestine. These organizations often bridge divides, facilitate people-to-people interactions, and work towards building mutual understanding. Engaging with civil society opens up an opportunity to create an inclusive dialogue that amplifies the development of a peaceful coexistence between Israel and Palestine and advocates for a political resolution that accommodates the aspirations and rights of both sides.

Accurate and fact-checked information is imperative to a constructive dialogue which can ultimately achieve a just and lasting solution to the ongoing conflict. Fact-checking plays a critical role by providing a necessary countermeasure against the proliferation of misinformation and disinformation.

Finally, to reach a sustainable resolution of this longstanding conflict, it is essential to assist in strengthening civilian protection in the West Bank which is faced by unprecedented violence, as well as complete obstruction at checkpoints between Palestinian towns and closures and forced displacement of several communities, preventing entry or exit for patients, health personnel and ambulances.

3.2 RATIONALE FOR CRISIS RESPONSE ACTIONS UNDER THE RAPID RESPONSE PILLAR OF THE NEIGHBOURHOOD, DEVELOPMENT AND INTERNATIONAL COOPERATION INSTRUMENT

The current conflict in Israel and Palestine is marked by unprecedented violence, loss of life and destruction, constituting an exceptional and unforeseen situation in the sense of Article 4(4) (a) of the NDICI Regulation. An adequate response cannot be provided under any other European Union Instrument due to the urgency with which the funds are required and due to available resources already being firmly committed.

Annex IV, paragraph 1, second paragraph, point(s) (a), (g), (j), (l), (m), (n), (p) and (q) of Regulation (EU) 2021/947 specifically provides for the use of the NDICI rapid response pillar to support (a) a situation of urgency, crisis, fragility, hybrid threats, emerging crisis or natural disasters, where relevant for stability, peace and security; (g) support for measures necessary to start the rehabilitation and reconstruction of key infrastructure, housing, public buildings and economic assets, and essential productive capacity, as well as other measures for the re-starting of economic activity, the generation of employment and the establishment of the minimum conditions necessary for sustainable social development; (j) support for measures to address, within the framework of Union cooperation policies and their objectives, the socio-economic impact on the civilian population of anti-personnel landmines, unexploded ordnance or explosive remnants of war. Activities financed under the Instrument may cover, inter alia, risk education, mine detection and clearance and, in conjunction therewith, stockpile destruction; (l) support for measures to ensure that the specific needs of women and children in crisis and conflict situations, including preventing their exposure to gender-based violence, are adequately met; (m) support for the rehabilitation and reintegration of the victims of armed conflict, including measures to address the specific needs of women and children; (n) support for measures to promote and defend respect for human rights and fundamental freedoms, democracy and the rule of law, and the related international instruments; (p) support for measures to address the potential impact of sudden population movements with relevance to the political and security situation, including measures addressing the needs of host communities and (q) support for measures to promote the development and organisation of civil society and its participation in the political process, including measures to enhance the role of women in such processes and measures to promote independent, pluralist and professional media.
